Let's Get Better Acquainted

Dear Friends:

Our first desire in issuing this new list for 1926 is to heartily thank our many Flower Friends for their generous patronage last season and we hope to merit a continuance of their good will. We also wish to express our appreciation to all who wrote us letters of encouragement; those telling us how they were pleased with the bulbs they received from us; those telling us what results they had with their bulbs and those asking help on some point that was not entirely clear to them. We have enjoyed these friendly relations more than it is possible to tell.

As we have told you before we have been growing these flowers for some years as a hobby or recreation from our regular business duties and the requests for a descriptive list were so many that we finally decided on an inexpensive one in order that we might furnish tubers and bulbs at a price that anyone might have a generous supply; so please don't think because our prices are low that the bulbs or varieties are of inferior quality for they are not.

The past summer has been a busy one for us but our efforts were rewarded by a production of an abundance of wonderful bloom and a harvest of strong healthy bulbs that have been carefully stored away until proper time to divide and get ready to plant again.

Now for those that did not have the opportunity to meet the family last season, we will introduce them again: Mrs. Patterson, who is greatly responsible for our success in growing flowers; the daughters, Lucile, age 13; Mary, age 11; Dora Mae, age 9; and the son, Delmar J., age 4. They all have their parts to do, especially on the cut flower end when it comes to cutting, sorting and packing. Of course the boy is too small to do much except carry messages and run errands which is considerable help at times. So you see it is a family affair and we have lots of fun along with our work.

We are always glad to welcome visitors to our gardens and if you should be in this vicinity we want you to look us up; we are just common folks and really want to meet you should the opportunity offer. Matthews is located about half way between Muncie and Marion on the Old Indian Trail.

If you have friends that are interested in flowers and will send us their names and addresses, we will be pleased to send them a copy of this list, and if we can help you with your floral problems, just write us about them and we will gladly help you what we can.

As this is only our second attempt at publishing a list we ask that you kindly overlook imperfections and tell us how you like it and how we can improve it in the future.

Very truly yours,

J. H. PATTERSON.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

ORDER EARLY—By so doing you will get the advantage of avoiding the rush season, as all orders are filed in the order received regardless of shipping date and in case some varieties are sold out during the season the first to order will be the ones to get them.

TIME OF SHIPMENT—As the time varies for planting in different localities we will ship when we think is the proper time to plant but would rather you would give shipping date with your order.

PRICES QUOTED—These prices on Dahlias are for strong field grown divisions that have not been forced or propagated from. The Gladioli and Tulip bulbs are of sufficient size to produce fine bloom the first season.

TERMS—On all cash orders we prepay delivery charges if the order is for $1.00 or more; if it is less than $1.00 add 10 cents. We will ship C. O. D., if you desire and you may pay at planting time when the bulbs are received, but will add the Parcel Post charges which you will pay when you pay for the bulbs.

SUBSTITUTION—If we are sold out of some variety we will substitute but will never use an inferior kind, it will be of equal or greater value. If you tell us not to substitute, the price will be refunded.

GUARANTEE—All tubers and bulbs are guaranteed to be true to name as grown by us and to reach you in growing condition; we are ready and willing to replace any that should prove otherwise. However, we will not be responsible for losses caused by things over which we have no control such as insects, drought, poor soils, unfavorable locations, etc. In no case will we be liable for more than the purchase price of bulbs.

TIME LIMIT—No orders will be accepted for Dahlias after May 10 and for Gladiolus May 1, as we expect to start planting as near these dates as the weather and soil conditions will permit.

RESERVES—We reserve the right to refuse any C. O. D. order that we have reason to believe is not given in good faith, also prepaid orders if our stock of bulbs and tubers should be destroyed by frost, fire, windstorm or any other cause over which we have no control, in which instance we will refund purchase price in full.

DAHLIAS.

CULTURE—Select the sunniest spot available, the open garden preferred. Do not use fertilizer unless the soil is very poor, then spade in or plow under well rotted manure (never use fresh manure); if you have been having trouble by foliage growing rank and not producing bloom is probably because the soil is too rich and sometimes may be overcome by removing the soil from the hill and mixing it with sand, about half and half. Avoid a stiff clay.

Plant from May 1 to June 1 in this latitude. Lay the tuber flat, do not stand on end. Cover four to six inches deep, about two and one-half feet apart in the row and the rows about three and one-half feet apart. Cultivate as any other garden crop. If planted in beds (massing system), plant about eighteen inches each way and keep the soil loose until the plants are well established, then they will take care of themselves. During a drought soak the ground thoroughly with water every seven or eight days. After the plants are killed by frost, cut off the tops and let the clumps stay in the ground a week or longer before digging and storing away for the winter.

SIZE OF TUBERS—Do not be guided by the size of a dahlia tuber for just as good results will be obtained from a tiny root only an inch long as from one a foot long. Do not condemn a tuber until it has been given a fair chance. We have planted tubers that were dry and swiveled and looked as though no life was left in them but they grew and produced foliage and bloom the same as any other.

GLADIOLUS.

The Gladiolus is one of the most decorative cut flowers grown in our gardens as it lends itself readily to any arrangement. If the spikes are cut when the first flower comes into bloom the others will open and remain fresh for many days. It is of easy culture and as good results may be obtained the first attempt as that of the experienced florist.

CULTURE—Plant the bulbs in the spring as early as the ground can be worked and for a succession of bloom may be planted every two weeks up to July. Work the ground deep and plant from four to six inches deep and about four inches apart in the row. Cultivate as any other garden crop. They require full sunlight and we do not advise planting close to buildings or anywhere they will be shaded but in the open garden where they will have a fair chance to prove their worth.

We furnish bulbs of sufficient size to produce a fine bloom the first year.

TULIPS.

The great variety of color, intense brilliancy and beautiful shadings make the Tulip one of the best hardy flowers we have, as they come into bloom early in the spring when outside flowers are scarce and there are no other bulbs that produce such a gorgeous display with so little care and cultivation.

As a cut flower the Tulip is of great value and will hold up well for ten days and quite often longer. Our method is to cut the bloom when it first comes full but before the petals begin to spread, cutting the stems as long as possible, using a sharp knife. Cut early in the morning and place in cold water until late in the evening, then take out of the water and put in a cool place until morning and before putting them in fresh water again, clip off the end of the stem. This is repeated day after day. Leaving the bloom out of water over night is not necessary if the water is changed both night and morning but we believe that method is the better. Keep the bloom in a place where it is as near the same or lower than outside temperature.

CULTIVATION—Plant in the fall before the ground freezes; spade deep, setting the bulbs about four to six inches apart and about four inches deep. They will thrive in any soil except a stiff clay. Cover with a light mulch of leaves or other litter which should be removed very early in the spring. The bulbs may be lifted after the foliage has turned yellow, and stored way until planting time again or they may be left in the ground to come up and bloom again year after year.

All our bulbs will bloom the first spring after planting. They are grown from Dutch bulbs imported from Holland.

We do not issue individual Tulip list and we suggest that orders reach us by September 1.

The Early Single Tulips usually come into bloom about two weeks earlier than the Darwins.
